Martin Methodist takes steps to create college culture

Article written by Adam Taburin - October 2016

PULASKI, Tenn. — There's a saying that comes up a lot in the rural patch of southern Middle Tennessee surrounding Martin Methodist College. Don't act above your raising. It's a sentiment administrators say they face often in a 13-county region where the percentage of adults with a college degree lags well below the state's average. The challenge for the small liberal arts college about 20 miles north of the Alabama border is to sell whole families on the benefits of higher education when it has been seen as out of reach for generations. State and local officials say it is crucial that colleges like Martin Methodist are successful in their missions to create a college-going culture. Gov. Bill Haslam has said 55 percent of working-age Tennesseans must have a college education by 2025 in order to satisfy the growing demands of new businesses, and that number currently sits at 37.85 percent statewide.

Martin Methodist President Ted Brown, who announced in September that he will retire in 2017, has spent the last few years of his tenure developing aggressive initiatives that he believes will boost the college's local profile in and around Giles County and convince more people to enroll. "There are needs here, but more importantly there is opportunity here — enormous opportunity," Brown said recently during an interview on campus. "The time is right for us to strike."

Experts on college access say that early exposure to college staff and faculty could play a key role in convincing young people that they should eventually pursue higher education. Brown took that to heart, and he regularly highlights a number of new programs to bring young students into the college's orbit early and often.

"We need to be the catalyst from the very beginning so that they will be ready to go to college when the time comes," Brown said.

Reaching into grade schools

One of Brown's biggest recent moves was to add a nationally known education expert to the college's senior leadership team. Judy Cheatham, who has been at the center of trend-setting research on literacy for decades, was named Martin Methodist's first-ever provost in 2015. This year, she put her experience to use by bringing Martin Methodist-backed instruction into Giles County schools for a summer reading camp funded by a grant from the Dollar General Literacy Foundation. During the camp, Cheatham and other Martin Methodist employees worked together with state officials and district teachers to improve reading scores for a small cohort of low-performing first, second and third graders. The students read books that were specially chosen to highlight art, science, technology, engineering and mathematics concepts that they could continue to follow years later in college. While the camp was not a focused recruitment effort, Cheatham said her research shows it could encourage more students to start thinking about their educational goals before they hit middle school. Flipping through a book about buildings she selected to help low-performing students develop their reading skills, she pointed out how simple stories could subtly introduce profound concepts. "If you don't know what an architect is, how are you going to learn to be an architect?" Cheatham said. "We're making these children enticed by reading." Initial data suggest the camp was a success — all but one of the 26 students involved logged improved reading scores. Bolstered by those results, the college hopes to make the camp an annual program.

Another growing program out of the Martin Methodist music department is bringing low-income children to campus for one-on-one music lessons led by college students. Founded in 2014, the program includes elementary school students from Giles County and members of the Boys & Girls Club of Pulaski for guitar and piano lessons. Each round of lessons culminates in a recital for family members. In 2016, the music program expanded to include violin, mandolin and cello lessons. College students also started teaching lessons off campus, opening the program to more kids outside of Giles County. Officials say the program has double-sided benefits. In a campus publication, program organizer Melissa Martiros, a music professor, said the lessons gave a freshman Martin Methodist student a reason to stick with his schooling: he wanted to make sure his young pupils kept learning.

In areas where fewer people pursue higher education, it is crucial to "de-mystify" the college experience and "neutralize the fear" some families have about it, said Troy Grant, who oversees college access initiatives for younger students across the state with the Tennessee Higher Education Commission. Working alongside college students could expose young children to "successful versions of themselves" at a pivotal age, he said. "In the same way that we expose students to algebra or biology, we need to expose them to college options," Grant said. "Once we get to the junior or senior year of high school, it's almost too late."

Support needed in college, too

But even as Martin Methodist is investing in programming for younger students, administrators say it is just as important to address the hurdles first-generation college students hit after they have applied. They put intense focus on shepherding applicants through the process and then pulling them along when the challenges of college life settle in. Robby Shelton, Martin Methodist's vice president for campus life and enrollment management, who will serve as interim president following Brown's retirement, said he personally calls applicants every couple of weeks to make sure they are making their way through their pre-college checklist.

Gracelyn Dodson, a freshman who was the first in her family to go to college, said Shelton invited her and her mother to campus to fill out the FAFSA, or the Free Application for Federal Student Aid, a notoriously cumbersome questionnaire that can be especially intimidating for first-generation students. "That's what makes my mom excited about this place," she said. Dodson said the support didn't stop after she moved to campus in the heart of Pulaski, a town of about 7,617 that is bordered by sweeping fields and farms. During walks on campus she bumps into the admissions counselor who convinced her to come to Martin Methodist in the first place, and she wasn't surprised when she heard some professors call students to wake them up for morning classes. For Dodson, who came from the small town of Huntland, where many of her friends lived on farms and "everyone knew everyone," that kind of tight-knit community has made for a smooth transition. "It's just so cool to come to college and have something like that (hometown) experience," she said. She described Martin Methodist as her way of "using stepping stones to get to this great big world from little bitty Huntland."

Student Government Association.

Flag Football is one of the first intramural sports of the fall semester. Four teams came together and competed in a series of games on the Campus Green. Our championship game was held on the soccer field on East Campus and team four, Money Team, took home the win. The Money Team traveled to MTSU in November to compete at the 24th Annual TIRSA Shootout Flag Football Tournament, where they competed against three other schools.

Intramural Volleyball was held throughout the month of October and hosted three teams. This year brought back a lot of veteran players, along with new freshman students that were ready to show their skills. The championship winners, Tennis Fever, are repeat winners from last year and look forward to competing in next year's intramural volleyball season.

Dodgeball is a one night President's Cup event that drew in a lot of students from all parts of campus. Six teams competed in a single elimination tournament and a host of students spectated from the bleachers to see which group would win. Ultimately, Upperman Hall won the dodgeball tournament and points towards their President's Cup score.

Homecoming.

Martin Methodist College celebrated Homecoming 2017 on Saturday, February 11, with two special ceremonies honoring several former Martin Methodist legends and one legendary team.

The RedHawks formally dedicated the court inside the Curry Christian Life Center after legendary coach and administrator Mr. Joe Hardin.

Hardin served as the Athletic Director at Martin Methodist from 1986 through 1996. Hardin was directly responsible for helping the transition from Martin Methodist from a junior college athletic program to a four year athletic department.

In addition, Hardin served as the Men's Basketball and Men's Golf head coach during these years. He was inducted into the Martin Methodist Sports Hall of Fame in 2008.

After Saturday's dedication, the court inside the Curry Christian Life Center will henceforth be known as "Joe Hardin Court."

Martin Methodist also inducted the newest members of the Sports Hall of Fame with the induction of Mr. Johnny Jones and members of the 1994-1995 Women's Basketball team.

Jones served as the Women's Basketball head coach at Martin Methodist from 1988 through 1996. Like Hardin, Jones played a key role in the transition from a junior college to four year institution within the athletic department. Jones was named TJCAA Western Division Coach of the Year in 1990 and produced numerous All-Americans during his tenure at Martin Methodist. Jones also served in numerous other roles during his time at Martin Methodist, including sports information director, assistant softball coach and women's tennis coach.

Jones biggest achievement at Martin Methodist, however, is perhaps the 1994-1995 Women's Basketball team, which also was inducted into the Hall of Fame on Feb. 11.

The 1994-1995 Women's Basketball team saw the first-ever senior student-athlete graduates at Martin Methodist after the transition to a four year institution. The team also won the National Small College Athletic Association championship, now known as the United States Collegiate Athletic Association. With the team in transition to the NAIA from a junior college, Martin Methodist was able to win the league's end of the year national tournament – just the second-ever such national title in program history (1993, Men's Soccer).

After launching Pulaski's first-ever night road race in 2013, the Martin Methodist Athletic Department is excited to report that it held the 4th Annual RedHawk 5K Glow Run at the East Campus Friday, Oct. 21, 2016.

The Glow Run, which has seen over 600 runners take part in the event over the last three years, is a race that begins and ends at the RedHawks indoor athletic training facility.

All proceeds from the race will help benefit the Martin Methodist Athletic Department and improvements at the department's East Campus.

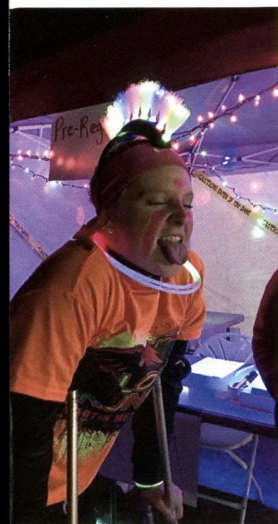

Like last year, the race featured seven classifications, with special recognition given to the first, second and third place finishers in each age division.

READY. SET. GLOW.

Still continuing an extraordinary tradition, some of the oldest students in the county joined together with some of the youngest in a moment of unity and spirit displayed in the heart of the county for the 11th Annual RedHawk Walk!

Just like in years past, MMC students went to the campus green to gather at the gazebo to walk as a collective group to meet with students of the Growing Tree Nursery School.

More than 375 Martin Methodist student/athletes gathered at the Grissom Gazebo Friday morning, with their respective sport's to line up, grab a balloon and flood the intersection of Fourth Street. It was a sight to see with all the student/athletes wearing red and black, and holding red and black balloons turning the corner of 4th street to get onto Jefferson Street. You could see all the nursery school students jumping up and down and screaming and smiling with anticipation.

"Our annual RedHawk Walk is one of my favorite MMC Champions of Character Events," said MMC Athletics Director Jeff Bain. When you have a combo package of the smiling and excited 2 year olds to 5 year olds as they interact with our MMC student/athletes and then seeing the physical presence of our student/athletes filling the entire First United Methodist Church sanctuary that is a great day! It makes you very proud to be part of the MMC athletic family!"

REDHAWKS DROP NO. 10 VANGUARD IN OPENER

Four different goal scorers found the back of the net as the No. 8 Martin Methodist Women's Soccer team opened its 2016 season with a 4-2 victory over No. 10 Vanguard (Calif.) University at Grissom Pitch Wednesday night. The win marked the first of the season for the RedHawks (1-0) and the first of head coach Will Austin's career. The RedHawks started the match on a torrid pace as Katie Reid (JR/Manchester, Tenn.) and Linzi Taylor (SR/Glasgow, Scotland) notched goals less than 11 minutes into the contest to give Martin Methodist an early two-goal cushion. The breathing room proved valuable as the Lions (0-1) answered with a goal in the 22nd minute to pull within striking distance.

Yet again, the RedHawks bought themselves some breathing room early in a period when Millene Cabral Vieira (SO/Porto Alegre, Brazil) scored just over two minutes into the second half to push the lead back to 3-1. Nearly 20 minutes later, the Lions once more pulled within a single goal on an individual effort from Rayven Hernandez.

That's when Riko Sagara (FR/Tokyo, Japan) delivered the knockout blow for the RedHawks as the freshman unleashed a high-powered, left-footed strike into the bottom right corner to cap the scoring and give the RedHawks a two-goal victory over a Top 10 side.

Cabral Vieira, Hikaru Nakamura (SO/Tokyo, Japan) and Hannah Mayberry (SR/Centerville, Tenn.) all collected assists on the first, second and final goals of the contest.

As a team, the RedHawks outshot the Lions by a 17-12 margin and held a 9-6 edge in shots on target. Austin, who spent the last four seasons as the RedHawks top assistant, stressed his excitement about the offensive depth the RedHawks possessed in the victory.

"You are always nervous when you get out there on the sideline," Austin said. "But to kick off the season against a side as tough as Vanguard really brings out the butterflies. Luckily, I think I was more nervous than the ladies on the pitch tonight. We had some first-game jitters, but overall I was pleased with the way we executed. To have four different goal scorers against a Top 10 club is really huge. We will enjoy this victory and get ready for two more tough opponents this weekend."

REDHAWKS RACK UP AT SSAC AWARDS BANQUET

The Southern States Athletic Conference announced the 2016 SSAC Women's Soccer All-Conference teams and award winners Tuesday at the SSAC Soccer Awards Banquet.

The No. 2 nationally ranked Martin Methodist Women's Soccer team was well represented at the banquet with several high-profile awards handed out and 12 total RedHawks honored amongst the All-Conference, All-Academic, All-Freshman and Champions of Character Teams.

Senior captain Linzi Taylor was honored as the league's Defensive Player of the Year for her efforts on the back line for the RedHawks in 2016. Taylor also amassed seven goals, 12 assists, and 26 points, paired with a game-winning goal in the regular season.

Freshman midfielder Riko Sagara was honored as the league's Freshman of the Year after a sensational first season as a RedHawk. Sagara notched nine goals and nine assists for a total of 27 points in 2016.

Millene Cabral landed a nod on the league's First Team All-SSAC list thanks to her sensational first half of the year. Cabral finished the regular season with a total of 16 goals- good for 21st in the NAIA in 2016, despite being sidelined due to injury for most of the latter half of the season. Additionally, Cabral finished 22nd and 25th in the points and game-winning goals categories, respectively. The sophomore also earned an All-Academic selection for her achievements in the classroom.

Hikaru Nakamura and Caroline Ladaga rounded out the All-SSAC First Team selections for the RedHawks. Nakamura contributed one goal and four points throughout the 2016 regular season. Ladaga posted six goals, six assists, and 18 points in the regular season during her junior campaign.

Forward Katie Reid and goalkeeper Caitlin Dumond garnered Second Team All-SSAC selections thanks to their play in the regular season. Reid was arguably the RedHawks MVP in the second half of the season as she collected 10 goals, four assists and 24 points throughout the regular season. Reid also earned All-Academic status for the RedHawks.

Dumond posted a .85 goals against average, eight shutouts, and an 82.9% save percentage during the regular season.

Kate Wallace earned a berth on the All-Freshman team for the RedHawks with two goals, two assists and six points on her scoresheet in 2016.

Hannah Mayberry, Megan Venable, Meagan Precourt and Hannah Johnson joined Cabral and Reid on the All-Academic teams. Mayberry was chosen as the team's Champions of Character winner due to her sportsmanship on the pitch and outreach in the Pulaski community.

Men's Basketball.

The Martin Methodist Men's Basketball team rallied to defeat Oakwood (Ala.) University, 85-83, Thursday night in front of the home crowd at the Curry Christian Life Center.

The RedHawks (3-0) and Ambassadors (3-5) would feel each other out in the opening minutes of the contest, as both teams traded baskets. However, the Ambassadors would take control as they used an 8-0 run to take a 46-36 lead into the halftime break behind a 53 percent first half shooting percentage.

The RedHawks would steadily climb back into the contest in the second half, finally breaking through and knotting the game at 53-53 midway through the period. The tie marked the first knotted score in the ballgame since both squads were even at 19 apiece.

The RedHawks seemed to find a second wind from that point in the contest, as they used a 9-2 run late in the final minutes to trim the Oakwood lead to just a single point.

The RedHawks would triumph and find themselves in the lead at the 3:30 mark of the second half, after virtually trailing the majority of the contest.

The RedHawks would string together six of the final nine points in the closing moments of the contest as Senior Caleb Chowbay iced the game with two points from the free-throw line.

Five RedHawks scored in double-figures as Caleb Chowbay (23), Broderick Davis (20), Toderick Davis (13) and A.J. Lynch (13) contributed to a balanced attack.

REDHAWKS DROP FISK IN SEASON OPENER

Eleven RedHawks recorded points in a convincing 93-68 season-opening victory for the Martin Methodist Women's Basketball team over Fisk (Tenn.) University inside the confines of the Curry Christian Life Center.

Fisk would prove to be a tough out for the RedHawks (1-0) in the first half of play, much like the two matchups during the 2015-16 campaign, however the RedHawks used a strong start in the opening minutes of the second half to seize control after taking a nine-point margin into the halftime break.

Senior Forward Kyoko Wade led the RedHawks offensively, as she was one rebound shy of a double-double – notching 21 points and 9 rebounds on an 8-of-9 shooting effort from the floor.

Additionally, three other RedHawks scored in double figures as Janasia Williams (14), Brooklyn Blanchard (10), and Teairra Luckett (10) contributed towards a balanced RedHawk scoring attack.

"I thought we did some things well at times tonight," RedHawks head coach Kyle Bent said. "Fisk was dramatically improved from a year ago and they played us tough. I was glad to see the depth of scoring we had this evening and see everyone get some minutes in the season opener."

Wade Grabs 1,000th Rebound at SSAC/Mid-South Challenge Women's Basketball - Tue, Dec. 20, 2016

Senior forward Kyoko Wade tracked down 15 rebounds in the contest against the University of Pikeville. The 15 boards pushed Wade into rarified air as she became just the second RedHawk in the program's modern era to track down 1,000 or more rebounds.

Wade joins former RedHawk great Kim Loop Bracey as the lone RedHawks to track down 1,000 rebounds as Bracey left the program with a record 1,182 boards in 2003.

"We are so proud of Kyoko and the way she has brought it these three-plus years," Bent said. "She is an absolute force on the glass and she had another strong outing tonight. She is very deserving of a milestone like 1,000 rebounds because of the work she has put in. We hope to see that number continue to climb as the year goes on."

REDHAWKS USE FALL SCHEDULE TO PREP FOR 2017

Martin Methodist softball utilized a challenging fall schedule to introduce a young team to collegiate competition, including several NCAA Division I and II opponents, as well as tilts with local junior college talents and former TranSouth Conference foe, Cumberland University. The RedHawks return three everyday starters this season, including senior Callie Pendley, and juniors Taylor Ferguson and Taylor Hurford, along with returning sophomore pitcher Baylee Mellott.

The pitching staff showed promise, led by Mellott in the circle for the RedHawks during fall dates, throwing her way to a 0.36 ERA. Mellott faced stiff competition in NCAA Division I University of Tennessee-Martin, and NCAA Division II powerhouse University of Alabama-Huntsville, and hurled 12 strikeouts in 25 innings of work, issuing only five free passes to opposing batters.

Freshmen pitchers Riley Fleming and Katie Davenport both checked in with commanding ERAs, at 0.60 and 0.31, respectively, while combining for only three walks in nearly 18 innings of work. Additionally, Sydney Watson fired five strikeouts in 11 1/3 innings. Junior college transfer Shelbi Byler was stellar at the plate for MMC, turning in a team-high .458 with 11 hits, which included a long ball. Raegan Hannah saw success in her inaugural fall season, using a .333 average to combine with Pendley's .324 and Caylee Porter's productive .294. Freshmen Taylor Mize, Carson Coble, and Deanna Stevens, along with juco transfer Ivey Kane added to the lineup, all hitting just under .300 in their first campaign with the RedHawks.

SOFTBALL EARNS COC TEAM OF YEAR

In front of a capacity crowd at Martin Hall, the Martin Methodist Athletic Department celebrated its commitment to character at its 16th annual Champions of Character Convocation.

In one of the longest-standing traditions within the Athletic Department, the RedHawks handed out several pieces of hardware as they presented their annual Male and Female Student-Athlete of the Year Award, Team of the Year and Servant Leader of the Year awards.

The RedHawks also welcomed local attorney and Martin Methodist College Board of Trustees member Joe Henry as the event's keynote speaker.

The convocation came just days after Martin Methodist was named a Silver Champions of Character Institution by the NAIA for a second straight year for their commitment and success within the NAIA's Champions of Character Scorecard.

Former RedHawk Softball standout Courtney Grooms received the Female Student-Athlete of the Year award.

The Martin Methodist Softball team was given the Team of the Year award for the team's commitment to helping those with special needs. The Softball team helped put on "Autism Awareness Night" during the spring schedule for a second straight season and helped local special needs children become involved through one-on-one assistance and game playing.

"This is truly one of our highlights of our year," RedHawks Executive Director of Athletics Jeff Bain said. "We view our Champions of Character convocation as the 'kick-off' of our academic and athletic years. We celebrate the successes and commitment to character of our student-athletes from the previous year and challenge our current crop of student-athletes to replicate the previous group's success. This was a special day to highlight the good that our student-athletes and staff members do in the community."

The RedHawks delivered the performance of the weekend as they overcame a fifth-place preliminary round finish and claimed the 2016 national title.

The RedHawks made their mark as they posted a 94.44 overall score – nearly two full points ahead of runner-up and national powerhouse Oklahoma City University.

"I can not even begin to describe how happy I am for these young men and women," RedHawks head coach Micah Hartsfield said. "We needed virtually a perfect performance today and they stepped up and delivered one of the best routines I have ever seen. I am so proud of this squad."

Men and Women's 2016-17 Tennis Teams

QUESADA IMPRESSES AT ITA SOUTH REGIONALS

The Martin Methodist Men's Tennis team opened its 2016-17 season at the ITA South Regionals on the campus of Georgia Gwinnett College.

2016 NAIA First Team All-American Jesus Quesada had the best weekend individually for the RedHawks. The sophomore entered the tournament as the No. 5 seed and impressed early with victories over Middle Georgia State College's Colby Gandy (6-4, 6-4) and Georgia Gwinnett's Sergio Valinotti (6-3, 6-0).

In the quarterfinals, Quesada fell to No. 3 seed and Xavier (La.) University standout Karan Salwan (6-1, 6-0). Quesada was the lone RedHawk to advance beyond the Round of 64 as teammates Nicolas Galleguillo, Raphael Monzione and Brad Prada all dropped their opening round contests.

Galleguillo fell to SCAD-Atlanta (Ga.) standout Alberto Mendez (6-1, 6-1), while Monzione dropped his contest to Georgia Gwinnett's Gregor Hutterer (6-2, 6-3). Prada, meanwhile, forced a third set but fell to SCAD-Atlanta's Patric Toren (6-3, 2-6, 1-0).

In double's action, Quesada and Galleguillo won their first match in convincing fashion with a win over Point (Ga.) University's Steven Tracy and Zach Sheeler (8-1).

Georgia Gwinnett's Sergio Valinotti and Tony Licata defeated Quesada and Galleguillo by an 8-2 scoreline in the quarterfinals. Monzione and Prada suffered a heartbreaking 8-6 defeat to SCAD-Atlanta's Patric Toren and Marcel du Sart in their opening round contest.

RIQUE WINS A PAIR AT ITA SOUTH REGIONALS

Three members of the Martin Methodist Women's Tennis team recently competed at the ITA South Regional Championships held on the campus of Georgia Gwinnett College.

Brenda Rique, Miriam Sanchez and Darby Tompkins all competed in the three-day event for the RedHawks, who kicked off their fall schedule with one of the most competitive individual and doubles events in the NAIA.

Rique turned in the best individual performance for the RedHawks with victories in her two opening matches. The junior defeated Xavier (La.) University's Lyndsey Clark, 6-2, 6-2, in her first match and downed SCAD-Atlanta's Natalie Palmer, 6-1, 6-0, in her second outing. Rique fell to Georgia Gwinnett standout Magarida Abreu in the quarterfinals of the tournament, 6-1, 6-2.

Sanchez picked up a straight-set, 6-3, 6-2, victory over Point (Ga.) University's Luz Padilla in her opening match of the event. The sophomore fell in heartbreaking fashion, 7-6 (7-4), 6-3 to Xavier University's Sha'nel Bruins in her second match.

Tompkins was defeated in straight sets, 6-0, 6-0, by Georgia Gwinnett's Rebeca Scurt.

In the lone double's match of the tournament, Rique and Sanchez fell, 8-4, to Middle Georgia State College tandem Nathalie Wenko and Jacqueline Heer.

Clay Target Team.

REDHAWKS TAKE HOME SCTP NATIONAL TITLE

The Martin Methodist Clay Target team added yet another title to its trophy cabinet as the program claimed its first-ever Division I national championship at the Scholastic Clay Target Program Collegiate National Championship held in Marengo, Ohio.

The RedHawks, competing at the Division I level for the first time in program history, connected on 2,857 of 3,000 possible targets – 20 more than the next-highest program, Lindenwood University.

The First Place High Overall is the highest achievement for a program already with several national accolades, including a national championship in the American Skeet division of the ACUI Collegiate Clay Target Championships in April.

Out of the four disciplines in which the RedHawks competed, the RedHawks finished first in three disciplines and were second in another.

The RedHawks took first in America Trap with a score of 991 out of 1,000. Two shooters, Justin Osborn (SR/Lawrenceburg, Tenn.) and Caleb Lindsey (SO/Spring Hill, Tenn.), both posted perfect scores of 200 in the American Trap competition. Lindsey ultimately won the individual portion of American Trap in a shootout while Osborn took home third-place honors. In Sporting Clays, the RedHawks posted 882 out of 1,000 but still claimed the first-place honors. Freshman Chase Boling (FR/Seymour, Tenn.) shot 187 of 200 for the second-highest score of the match. Morgan Goette (FR/Milledgeville, Ga.) connected on 177 of 200 targets to take home the highest female score and the gold medal.

The RedHawks also took first in 5-Stand Shooting with a 219 score out of 250 possible points. Boling and Goette once again led the way with scores of 46 and 42, respectively.

The lone RedHawk blemish on the weekend came in the American Skeet discipline, where the RedHawks finished second by just four targets. Colin King (JR/Mt. Pleasant, Tenn.) and Aaron Wilson (SO/Lansing, Kan.) both connected on 199 out of a possible 200 targets. King would go on to win the national title and Wilson finished in third place. Hannah Houston (JR/Columbia, Tenn.) made the podium with a score of 193 for a third-place finish.

"This team continues to amaze and impress with their ability to rise to the occasion and to the level of competition they face," RedHawks head coach Chad Whittenburg said. "To win the overall national title in our first competition in Division I is a true testament to each one of the athlete's dedication to self and motivation for excellence which transcends both on and off the field."

"We are very proud of the progress and the successes that our Clay Target team is having within their competition venues and we sincerely congratulate them," RedHawks Executive Director of Athletics Jeff Bain said. "However their successes are no surprise as you review their overall body of work. They have excellent community involvement and their academic successes are one of our top three every semester. They define our core covenant of Champions: Character, Confidence, and Composure."

Women's Basketball - Mon, Feb. 13, 2017

MONTGOMERY, Ala. – Martin Methodist Women's Basketball standout Kyoko Wade has been named Southern States Athletic Conference Women's Basketball Player of the Week for the week ending Feb. 12, the conference office announced Monday afternoon.

Wade, 5-foot-10 senior forward from Nashville, Tennessee, earned the honor after she produced a pair of double-doubles and guided the RedHawks (20-6) to a pair of conference victories.

OFFICIAL SSAC RELEASE

In Thursday's win over Brenau (Ga.) University, Wade scored 17 points and notched 13 rebounds. In Saturday's victory over Middle Georgia State College, Wade posted a 14-point, 17-rebound effort. The double-doubles marked the 11th and 12th double-doubles of the season for the senior. Wade is just nine rebounds shy of breaking the school's all-time rebounds record (1,182) and needs just 16 points to eclipse 1,000 for her career.

On the year, Wade ranks third in the NAIA with 328 total rebounds and averages 11.7 points and 12.6 boards per contest. Her 12 double-doubles on the year is tops in the SSAC and is tied for 5th in the NAIA. The senior has scored in double-figures in 17 games this year, with a high of 26.

The award is the first of the season for Wade, but the third weekly conference honor of her career.

Chowbay Named SSAC Player of the Week
Men's Basketball - Mon, Feb. 6, 2017

PULASKI, Tenn. – Martin Methodist Men's Basketball standout Caleb Chowbay has been named the Southern States Athletic Conference's Men's Basketball Player of the Week for the week ending Feb. 5, the league office announced Monday afternoon.

The award is the first of Chowbay's career and the first by a RedHawk this season.

Taylor, Reid Named SSAC Player of the Week
Women's Soccer - Tue, Oct. 18, 2016

PULASKI, Tenn. – Martin Methodist Women's Soccer players Linzi Taylor and Katie Reid were named Southern States Athletic Conference Defensive and Offensive Players of the Week for the week ending Oct. 16, the conference office announced Monday afternoon.

OFFICIAL SSAC RELEASE

Taylor, a senior defender from Glasgow, Scotland, actually perhaps earned the league's top defender award due to her offensive prowess as the senior scored a goal in Martin Methodist's come-from-behind draw against No. 7 University of Mobile (Ala.).

Taylor also added an assist in the RedHawks (9-1-3, 3-0-1 SSAC) win over No. 3 William Carey (Miss.) University on Saturday. The award is the first of the year for the RedHawk captain.

Offensively, Reid, a junior forward from Manchester, Tennessee, notched a goal in both contests on the week for the RedHawks, including the match-winning goal against William Carey.

The goals were the fourth and fifth of the season for Reid, who is no stranger to clutch goals. The junior scored at the NAIA Women's Soccer national tournament in both of the last two seasons and has now notched four match-winning goals in her career.

Reid also added two assists on the week for a total of six points.

The award is the first of the year for Reid.

Cabral Named SSAC Player of the Week
Women's Soccer - Mon, Oct. 3, 2016

PULASKI, Tenn.- After a hat-trick performance in the conference-opening victory against Bethel (Tenn.) University last weekend, sophomore midfielder Millene Cabral was selected as the Southern States Athletic Conference Women's Soccer Offensive Player of the Week for the week ending in Oct. 2nd, the league office announced Monday afternoon.

OFFICIAL RELEASE

In addition to praises from the conference as a result of her performance, Cabral is now nominated to receive national recognition as the National Player of the Week for her efforts on the pitch.

Cabral, who fired home six goals in the win against Lyon (Ark.) College earlier in the season, notched her second hat-trick of the year against Bethel on Saturday. Cabral also gathered two assists in the match on a Kate Wallace goal and Meagan Precourt strike - for a total of eight points.

Cabral is the leader in goals scored in the SSAC with 16 and ranks third in the NAIA.

The award is the fourth of Cabral's young career, as the sophomore took home the award three times in 2015.

Reid Named National Player of the Week
Women's Soccer - Tue, Oct. 18, 2016

KANSAS CITY, Mo. – After two of the biggest regular-season goals in recent memory, Martin Methodist Women's Soccer forward Katie Reid has been named the NAIA National Women's Soccer Offensive Player of the Week, the national office announced Tuesday afternoon. Reid, a 5-foot-7 junior from Manchester, Tennessee, won the award thanks to a two-goal, two-assist performance in a 1-0-1 week last week for Martin Methodist.

OFFICIAL NAIA RELEASE

Reid notched the game-winning goal in the RedHawks (9-1-3) victory over No. 3 William Carey (Miss.) University last Saturday. The junior also bagged the game-tying goal in an eventual 2-2 draw against No. 7 University of Mobile (Ala.) last Thursday.

Reid also added an assist in each contest as the RedHawks leapt from No. 8 to No. 3 in the latest NAIA Women's Soccer Coaches' Top 25 Poll.

The goals were the fourth and fifth of the season for Reid, who is no stranger to clutch goals. The junior scored at the NAIA Women's Soccer national tournament in both of the last two seasons and has now notched four match-winning goals in her career.

With the selection, Reid becomes just the ninth RedHawk – regardless of sport – to achieve Player of the Week status at the national level. Four other RedHawk Women's Soccer performers have achieved the distinction prior to Reid.

Former RedHawk forward Mor Efraim was the last Women's Soccer standout to achieve the mark, winning the honor twice in the 2011 season.

"Katie was fantastic last week for us in our two biggest matches of the year," RedHawks head coach Will Austin said. "She delivered the equalizer on Thursday and then dug deep for the match-winner on Saturday. Given the level of competition she faced, that is a remarkable achievement and it is a delight to see her honored for those performances."

Seniors,

I addressed you in August, saying that this year would fly by, was I right? I think I was. As we have spent the past three years together, take a second and to think back on those years. How much did you accomplish? How much have you grown?

You have endured four years, more or less, of hard work, dedication, and countless hours spent inside of the library, all boiling down to a few steps across a stage. Those steps you will take are just the beginning of a lifelong journey. Whether you're planning on continuing school and pursuing another degree or entering the workforce, you will now be members of the professional world.

You have all been influenced in some way by Martin Methodist College. You may have a teacher that has helped you through thick and thin or a coach who never stopped believing in you.

Whatever it may be, I wouldn't have it any other way. The small community at Martin has brought all of you here today. Your gifts of hard work, determination, and wisdom have all flourished at this school. Martin has sculpted all of you into future teachers, doctors, psychologists, coaches, and so forth. Wherever you may go, you will always have a piece of Martin Methodist in you.

We have all faced our fair share of challenges. We have come from different backgrounds, states, even countries, but regardless of who we are, you are all here with the same title: college graduates. Although the places you have come from have helped to build you, it is what you do now which will determine your future. Push yourselves, take the extra step in life. You only have one life, so make the most of it. My advice to you moving forward is do what you love and love what you do. Always keep in mind that your happiness comes first. As Henry David Thoreau once said, "Go confidently in the direction of your dreams. Live the life you have imagined." Through Martin, you have learned to ask for help when you need it, and now, moving forward, you can offer that same help to the rest of the world.

MARTIN METHODIST RECEIVES GENEROUS TRAVIS FOUNDATION GRANT

January 30, 2017

Martin Methodist College (MMC) officially announced at its board of trustees meeting last week that it has received a $1.1 million grant award from the Jeanette Travis Foundation, making this the third gift the foundation has made to the college in the last three years.

Chartered in 2003 by Jeanette Travis after the death of her husband, Leon Travis, the Jeanette Travis Foundation exists today because of the Traveses' simple way of life that resulted from growing up during the Great Depression. The foundation's principal mission is to further the profession of nursing and assist organizations that provide primary health care and other basic services to vulnerable and underserved populations.

"Serving as the foundation's president and as a trustee, I was intrigued by some of the initiatives MMC's nursing program is developing, in particular a Center for Rural Health," said Richard Warren. "Our philosophy of stewardship for the foundation is to seek to identify opportunities to support people and programs that would have pleased Mrs. Travis and that meet a significant need in the community. We are confident that it would have gladdened her heart to see these funds benefit a program like the Center for Rural Health."

A Center for Rural Health is a partnership with a wide range of partners that helps rural communities build their health care services through collaborations and initiatives.

"We are extremely grateful to the Jeanette Travis Foundation for continuing to be a generous partner of Martin Methodist. This most recent commitment will have a transformative impact on Martin's efforts in making a difference in rural health care," said interim President Robby Shelton.

MARTIN METHODIST MUSIC INSTRUCTOR WINS GRAMMY AWARD February 14, 2017

Martin Methodist College (MMC) music instructor Mark Evitts won a Grammy Award at the 59th Annual Grammy Awards.

Evitts, MMC's fiddle and mandolin instructor and director of the college's bluegrass ensemble Richland Creek, won for his contribution on Joey + Rory Feek's album Hymns. The album won in the "Best Roots and Gospel Album" category.

For their final album, Rory Feek reached out to Evitts to write a string arrangement and play violins and violas for the classic hymn "How Great Thou Art." The album released on February 12, 2016, and was certified Gold by the Recording Industry Association of America (RIAA) in December 2016 for selling more than 500,000 copies.

"It truly is an honor to be a part of a Grammy winning recording," said Evitts. "I used to dream about this day when I was a student, and I know how it feels to work really hard for something. My students at MMC are all so talented and hardworking, and they inspire me every day."

"Mark is a fantastic colleague and a consummate musician," said Program Coordinator for MMC's Department of Music Dr. Timothy Powell. "Under his direction, our students receive a world-class education from one of the most gifted fiddle players and arrangers in Nashville. We are really lucky to have Mark on our faculty."

45 year service awards

Dr. Ted Brown.

Ted Brown was selected by the Martin Methodist College Board of trustees as the 30th president in 1998 and assumed office on March 1. During his first year, Brown initiated a visioning process that led to the development of an ambitious 10-year plan of development for the college. Martin 2010 was based on the primary goal of growing the enrollment to at least 1,000 students, which was achieved in 2009. The plan has resulted in the addition of 36 academic programs of study, expansion of the area of the campus by more than 50 acres, construction of four new buildings and renovation of four others. The Campaign for Martin 2010 raised more than $42 million. The successor plan, Martin 2020, is now well underway with the vision of continued growth to 1,500 students, graduate-level programs and a broader impact on the south-central Tennessee region.

Since his arrival at Martin Methodist, Dr. Brown has become quite involved in the community and surrounding region. He served as chair of the Giles County Chamber of Commerce and president of the Pulaski Rotary Club, along with the service on the Board of Directors of the Boys and Girls Club. He is a member of the Executive Board of the Middle Tennessee Boy Scout Council, and he assumes various roles with the David Crocket District Committee. He has been an active member at Pulaski First United Methodist Church, serving on various committees and as a lay leader. In 2008, Brown was elected president of the 800-member International Association of Methodist Schools, Colleges, and Universities (IAMSCU), a position he held for six years. He also serves on the Board of Directors of the National Association of Schools and Colleges of the United Methodist Church. In 2014, Dr. Brown also completed his three-year term as chair of the Council of Presidents of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA).

Ted Brown is a native of southern New Jersey and grew up as an active member of the United Methodist Church. He graduated from West Virginia Wesleyan College with a degree in Philosophy and went on to earn his Master of Divinity degree and Ph.D. in Higher Education Leadership at Vanderbilt University. Dr. Brown is married to the former Cheryl Kiser, a learning disabilities teacher who is now retired after 37 years of service in the public schools. They have two grown sons and two grandchildren.

"Dr. Brown is fiercely committed to our students. He puts students first at all times and stands a firm advocate for them, and they know it and trust him. One of his personal traits that I admire the most is his compassion for people. He is kind to everyone and truly cares."

-Robby Shelton

"I love this institution and always will. But I feel like it is time for a change and fresh leadership," Brown told board members in announcing his decision.

"This is truly a bittersweet moment. There have been many successes under Dr. Brown's watch, and we appreciate his devotion to Martin Methodist," said Martin Methodist Board Chair Byron Trauger

Theodore Lipman:

On Friday, February 25, 2016, Martin Methodist College lost a great friend and supporter. At the age of 89, Ted Lipman passed away at his home, leaving the chair he occupied for 15 years at the table of Martin Methodist board of trustees empty.

A native of Brooklyn, NY, Mr. Lipman made his home in Pulaski where he operated and helped to grow Denbo Scrap Materials to prominence in the scrap industry with brother-in-law Charles Denbo. Mr. Lipman acquired Tennessee Southern Railroad in 1988 and served as chairman of the board. He operated Denbo Scrap Materials until year 2000 when he joined Denbo Iron & Metal of Decatur, Alabama, with L. Miller and Sons of Huntsville to form Tennessee Valley Recycling LLC. Mr. Lipman was a World War II veteran, serving the 9th Infantry Division and was awarded the Purple Heart. He was a 1949 Vanderbilt University graduate and was active in economic development and community service endeavors.

It takes a minute to find a special person, an hour to appreciate them, and a day to love them, but it takes an entire lifetime to forget them.

Royce Hughes:

Coach Royce Hughes of Pulaski passed away on Monday, May 23, 2016 at Southern Tennessee Regional Healthcare System in Pulaski. She was born on March 22, 1943 in Pulaski and was 73 years old.

She was a loving wife, mother, and grandmother, and a member of Second Street Church of Christ. Royce graduated from Giles County High School in 1961, and attended Martin Methodist College during her Junior and Senior year of high school. She began her teaching career at Rogers High in Green Hill Alabama and starting teaching at Martin Methodist College in 1968 until 2009. She attended Peabody College and Middle Tennessee State University. Coach Hughes has coached tennis, basketball and softball, cheerleading and served as Athletic Trainer at Martin College and director of the Curry Christian Life Center and manager of the Grace Grissom Natatorium. Coach Hughes served alongside 84 different athletic department staff members and touched the lives of an estimated 8,000 student-athletes.

*One night I dreamed a dream.
As I was walking along the beach with my Lord.
Across the dark sky flashed scenes from my life.
For each scene, I noticed two sets of footprints in the sand,
One belonging to me and one to my Lord.*

*After the last scene of my life flashed before me,
I looked back at the footprints in the sand.
I noticed that at many times along the path of my life,
especially at the very lowest and saddest times,
there was only one set of footprints.*

*This really troubled me, so I asked the Lord about it.
"Lord, you said once I decided to follow you,
You'd walk with me all the way.
But I noticed that during the saddest and most troublesome times of my life, there was only one set of footprints.
I don't understand why, when I needed You the most, You would leave me."*

*He whispered, "My precious child, I love you and will never leave you Never, ever, during your trials and testings.
When you saw only one set of footprints,
It was then that I carried you."*
